Joining in dialogue:

Participation in a Community Dialogue is a unique experience of getting in touch with others and really listening. The evening will be facilitated by a team comprised of experienced process leaders and SWPS students using a Community-based Conflict Resolution CBR framework which makes it easier to get together and reach mutual understanding. The use of English will be accommodated.

We especially invite persons interested in the challenges of cultural diversity. Each person will have the opportunity to contribute their point of view and to be heard in interactive conversations.

The following questions will be raised:

- Who enters dialogue: people or cultures?
- What barriers create difficulties in understanding?
- Faced with increasing cultural differences, on what common ground do we build community?

Enter into dialogue and check out your listening skills. We look forward to meeting you!
